SITUATION GROWS MORE CRITICAL

Five Hundred Boxers Killed in a Battle Near Peking Yesterday

GREAT BATTLE RAGING

Chinese Government Refuses to Allow British Troops to Go Into the Interior.

WASHINGTON VERY ANXIOUS

Tien Tsin, June 8—[Special Cablegram]—It is reported that four thousand Boxers surrounded fifteen hundred Chinese troops near Yong Tsun yesterday. Five hundred Boxers are reported killed. The news comes from Chinese sources. No news from Pao Ting Fu for three days. The situation is believed to be critical.

Shanghai, June 8—[Special Cablegram]—The Chinese authorities refuse to allow the British marines and blue jackets to entrain here for Peking though the British offered to repair the railway line as they were proceeding.

The French warships Dentrecasteau and Bart, and the Russian ship Rossia have arrived at Taku. Firing is proceeding twenty miles from here in the direction of Peking. The Boxers and Chinese troops are also on the road to Taku. The Chinese troops are reported to be defeated near Pao Ting Fu.

Washington Officials Anxious.

Washington, June 8—[Special Telegram]—The following is from Kempf at noon, dated Taku: There was a battle yesterday between the Chinese and the Boxers near Tien Tsin. A large number of Boxers are expected to reach Tien Tsin tomorrow." Conger cables that the situation is not improved and is asking for instructions. Press dispatches have a disquieting effect on the officials of the state department. It is feared the Boxers gathered in force to take Peking.

CITY OF OSHKOSH SUED FOR DAMAGES

Very Peculiar Suit Is Brought by the Waterworks Company—Asks for $100,000 Damages

Oshkosh, Wis., June 8—[Special Teleegram]—A very important suit was begun here today by the Oshkosh Water Works company against the city of Oshkosh.

The company asks for $100,000 damages. It alleges in its complaint that the city has, by emptying sewerage and drainage into the Fox River and Lake Winnebago, contaminated the water supply. Also that by withholding a $50,000 hydrant rental it kept the company from paying its interest on the bonds, thus hurting the company's financial standing. The court is further asked to grant a temporary injunction restricting the city from emptying sewerage and drainage into Fox River and Lake Winnebago.

The matter of building connecting trunk lines for long distances purposes was left to the executive committee. A resolution was passed providing that no member of the association shall sell any independent line to the Bell company without first offering the same to the association or to a member of the association.

The next meeting will be held in Madison in February.

FACTS OVERLOOKDD BY GEN ROBERTS

Neglects to Mention Very Important Things About the Occupation of Pretoria.

London, June 8—Apparently Lord Roberts overlooked several facts of importance when he sent his dispatches relating to the fall of Pretoria.

For instance, he neglected to mention the fact, which now comes through the press agencies, that a large number of prisoners—some reports say 1,600, some twenty officers and 1,000 men—have been carried off by the Boers to Nooitgedacht, in the Eland River Valley.

Nor did he tell how the Boers made an orderly retirement from Pretoria, carrying off all their guns and the rolling stock, thus frustrating General French's attempt to cut off their retreat.

The Boers are now said to be massed at Hatterley, twelve miles east of Pretoria.

VANDERBILTS HERE DURING EVENING

Well Known New Yorkers Paid a Brief Visit to Janesville on Way to St. Paul.

Last evening this city was favored by a visit from members of the world-famous Vanderbilt family. These aristocratic New York millionaires arrived in Janesville over the Chicago & Northwestern road, following the vestibule as a second section. Their special consisted of five handsome cars, each worth a fortune. The train made but a brief stop here, being on its way to St. Paul. The directors of the Northwestern road held a meeting in Chicago yesterday, and the Vanderbilts were in attendance.

BOTH WANT A MAN FOR SECOND PLACE

SEARCHING FOR GOOD VICE PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER.

Republicans Are as Much at Sea Over the Matter as Are the Democrats—Booms Rise and Fall With Startling Rapidity—Some of the Indications.

Washington, June 8—President McKinley, it is said, has no more idea of who his running mate is to be than if the convention were a year off. It the colleagues of Chairman Hanna, in whom he confides, are to be believed, he is in a like state of ignorance. None of the booms that have been started in congress seem to continue to boom, but all start soon after being inflated. Thus, Senator Fairbanks, whose name was on everybody's lips last week, has passed into the list of those who "were talked about," his state being too near Ohio, and his popularity as a vote-getter too uncertain.

Dolliver Boom Exploded.

Mr. Dolliver of Iowa, has gone down the chute with Mr. Fairbanks. Iowa has the speakership and a place in the cabinet, and then Mr. Dolliver is not just the kind of a man that the leaders dare to put in a place where there would be but one life between his and the presidency.

It has been an open secret in Washington for some time that the man whom the President and Chairman Hanna would like to have nominated is Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa.

Spooner or Scofield

The field is large and, in the opinion of the leaders, some one of the big republicans will touch the convention in the right spot and be nominated. It may be Senator Allison of Iowa, or Wolcott of Colorado, or Fairbanks of Indiana, or Spooner of Wisconsin, or Governor Roosevelt of New York, or Schofield or Wisconsin, or Shaw of Iowa, or representative Dolliver of Iowa, or some other good man, and as the first three named, as well as Mr. Dolliver and Governor Roosevelt, will be in the convention as delegates at large from their respective states, they will stand the best show.

Bryan's Nomination Certain

Convinced that Bryan's nomination is assured now, democratic leaders are turning their attention to the selection of a suitable running mate for him. Chairman J. G. Johnson of the executive committee said yesterday that the action of the New York and Indiana conventions in instructing the delegates of those states for Bryan removed all doubts as to whether or not he would be nominated at Kansas City.

Search For a Vice President.

The search for a suitable vice presidential candidate has been started and it is said probably will extend over the entire country. The list of available aspirants thus far mentioned includes, Judge Alton B Parker, Judge Augustus Van Wyck, D. H. P. Belmont, William R. Hearst and Congressman William Sulzer of New York; Carter H. Harrison and Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois; George Fred Williams, Massachusetts; B. F. Shively of Indiana; John J. Lentz, of Ohio; D. J. Campau of Michigan; Colonel L. Victor Baughm, of Maryland; General Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia. Governor Benton McMillan of Tennessee and ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania.

New York May Make Demands.

It is believed that New York will insist upon the nomination going to one of its candidates. The leaders say it would be good politics to name a New Yorker. They profess to believe that the state would then give its electoral vote to Bryan.

BENEDICT CALLS FOR NEW PARTY

E. C. Benedict Denounces the Candidacy of Wm. J. Bryan and Demands His Defeat.

New York, June 8—In a letter to the New Haven Register this afternoon E. C. Benedict, the New York millionaire and a close personal friend of ex-President Cleveland, denounces both party candidates. He demands Bryan's defeat and calls for a new party. Mr. Benedict's letter says:

"The gross outrages perpetrated on the good name of the democratic party by the present managers of a party by that name, with scarcely a vestige of the old democratic gospel left in it, makes me at present a political orphan.

"I am not alone in this orphanage. On the contrary, I have not a single acquaintance among my democratic friends with whom I have conferred, who does not share this feeling with me. It is also apparent this political orphanage is not confided to those of our faith. McKinleyism is becoming almost as repugnant to the rank and file of republicans as Bryanism is to us. As a temporary choice of evils the latter may survive the former, but only for a little while."

Pope Is Improving.

Rome, June 8—[Special Cablegram]—The pope is improving after yesterday's prostration.

London, June 8—[Special Cablegram]—Fire last night damaged Ambassador Choate's house, Carlton Terrace.

WHOLE CITY HAS BEEN WIPED OUT

FIRE SWEEPS DESTRUCTION IN VIRGINIA, MINNESOTA.

Nearly Every Building is Destroyed and the People Are Homeless and Without Food—Flames Driven by a Furious Wind—Big Fire at Racine.

Duluth, Minn., June 8—Virginia, one of the largest towns of the Mesaba iron range, sixty miles north of Duluth, having 3,000 population, was practically wiped out of existence by fire yesterday for the second time, having undergone the same experience in June, 1893. The entire business section, except a few dwellings and the schoolhouse and one or two churches, were on fire in less than an hour from the time the flames broke out.

There is practically nothing to eat left in the village, and no one in the city has had anything since yesterday. There is absolutely no bedding or anything of that nature in the town. The water plant which supplied the village with fire protection was in the path of the fire between the mill and the town, and was one of the first buildings to be burned. The fire apparatus was also destroyed while going to the mill fire.

The burned district includes about twenty blocks and the number of buildings destroyed number about 150. The loss is estimated at $500,000 and the insurance will not exceed one-quarter of that.

The village of Biwabik, directly in line of the wind, was reported to be burning this morning, but although there are fires around there the village is safe. The entire country is parched and dry.

The wind is blowing hard today and there are fires in the woods all around the villages. Eveleth, which is the largest of the range towns, having a population of four thousand, has fire all around it and the citizens there are uneasy. They sent an appeal to Duluth last evening to send hose.

Fire at Racine, Wis.

Racine, Wis., June 8—The plant of the Wisconsin Wheel works was entirely destroyed by fire last night. The loss on stock, buildings and machinery is between $50,000 and $60,000 on which there is a blanket insurance of $80,000.

AWFUL TRAGEDY AT BARN RAISING

Nine Reported Killed Near Stockbridge, Wis., as Result of Beheading Child in Play.

Green Bay, Wis., June 8—A train crew on the Milwaukee road today brought a report of a child having its head cut off by a playmate and of eight men being killed at a barn raising near Stockbridge. According to the story of the trainmen there was a barn raising near Stockbridge, a large number of the Oneida Indians assisting one of the tribe who was building a barn.

The woman of the house was desirous of giving the workers a good dinner and began to prepare for it as soon as the men began the work of raising the barn. She killed a chicken, several children assisting in the hunt for it and watching her take the chicken to a block and cut its head off with an axe. The children then thought it would be good fun to play chicken. One pretended she was the woman and the other was the chicken. All joined in the chase, finally capturing her they brought her to the block to be slaughtered.

During this time the men were putting in place a heavy beam, to hoist which they had to use a derrick. The father of the child who was playing the part of the chicken had hold of the rope which ran over the derrick, and was holding one end of the beam high in the air. He turned just in time to see the ax held high in the air, above his child's neck. He dropped the rope as the ax fell and almost severed the child's head. The raised end of the heavy beam being released it fell on eight men who were under it killing them instantly.

Reports of the affair have been received from several different points but it has been impossible to get a confirmation of it from Chilton, the nearest railroad station. The story was brought to Depere by farmers.

NON-UNION MEN REACH ST. LOUIS

They Were Guarded At the Depot But No Trouble Resulted—Climax Is Coming.

St. Louis, June 8—[Special Telegram]—A special train of two hundred and fifty non-union street car men arrived here this morning from the East. It was met by a large force of sheriffs and police. Contrary to expectations there was no trouble. Yesterday's casualties aggregated four, three policemen and one civilian. The company now claims enough men to run all trains.

RIDE OVER PARAPET OF A HIGH VIADUCT

Daring Feat of Two Wheelmen as the Result of a Thoughtless Challenge.

Binghampton, N. Y., June 8—With tense muscles and drawn faces, Elbridge Hart and Henry Wesson, two Chicago bicycle riders, rode the parapet of the Lanesboro viaduct, on the Erie road, while a crowd of frightened spectators in the village gazed upwards 300 feet expecting momentarily to witness a tradegy.

Within the last year several persons have been dashed to pieces by falling from the bridge 305 feet to the rocks, and when the two riders, on their way to New York, reached the bridge, Hart callenged Wesson to ride it, intimating that he lacked nerve. Wesson thereupon started across the bridge and Hart necessarily followed. The coping is only twelve inches wide, but a quarter of a mile long, and on this the men rode. A wobble of a wheel or the passing of a train would have thrown them to the rocks below.

After they started both bitterly regretted the desire to make a record, but it was too late. They had to ride or fall. They rode, and when at last the end was reached one of the riders succumbed to the strain and fainted. It was the first time the feat was ever attempted and probably will be the last, as the men say no amount of wealth could induce them to repeat the experiment.

GOLD DEMOCRATS TO HAVE TICKET

Anti-Silver Men Will Again Enter the National Arena—Call to Committee Is Issued.

Indianapolis, June 8—The Gold democrats will have candidates for president and vice president again in the field this year. This unexpected course was virtually decided upon at a secret conference of their national executive committee held in New York last Friday. Secrecy was maintained until today, when the following call, "by order of the executive committee," was issued in this city by Chairman Peabody and Secretary Frenzel:

"To the Members of the National Committee of the National Democratic Party:—There will be a meeting of the national committee in Indianapolis, July 25, 2 p. m. Your presence is earnestly requested."

At the New York meeting, Secretary Frenzel stated last night, the sentiment was unanimous that the party should duplicate its course in 1896.

ONE FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

Railroad Companies Make a Very Low Rate All During Carnival Week.

Milwaukee, June 8—The board of carnival directors are much pleased over the announcement of the making of a rate of one fare for the round trip for the carnival by the roads in this territory.

This means the people of Wisconsin, Michigan and northern Indiana can come to the big show for one fare. The rate is for the entire week, so that people can come any time and be sure of the reduced rate instead of having to come on a certain day, as was the case last year.

The arrangements for the carnival are working along nicely, and the board of directors promise a week of the fullest enjoyment for all who come.

MRS. LOWE ELECTED PRESIDENT AGAIN

Federation of Woman's Clubs Defeat Reorganition Scheme.

COLOR LINE IS RESTING.

Mrs. G. H. Noyes of Milwaukee is Elected Auditor of the Association.

SMOOTH SAILING FROM NOW ON

Milwaukee, June 7—[Special Telegram]—The nominating board at 2 o'clock this afternoon presented the following ticket to the Convention of Woman's clubs in session here, and it was elected unanimously:

President—Mrs. Rebecca D. Lowe of Georgia.
Vice President—Mrs. Charles T. Denison of New York.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Emma Fox of Michigan.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. George W. Kendrick, Jr., of Pennsylvania.
Treasurer—Mrs. Emma M. Van Vechten of Iowa.
Auditor—Mrs. George H. Noyes of Wisconsin.
Directors—Mrs. Edward L. Buchwaltor of Ohio; Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana; Miss Margaret J. Evans of Minnesota; Mrs. Margaret J. Lockwood of the District of Columbia; Mrs. Anna D. West of Massachusetts; Mrs. W. J. Christie of Montana; Mrs. W. J. Coad of South Dakota; Mrs. Wm. Streeter of New Hampshire; Mrs. Priddy, Kansas.

Triumph for Mrs. Lowe.

From yesterday morning when the reorganization plan was snowed under up to last night when the nominating board instead of having the stormy time that had been predicted held a love feast and made pretty speeches about the candidates, the third day's session of the General Federation were a complete triumph for Mrs Lowe, who demonstrated her remarkable ability as a leader and her rare skill as a parliamentarian.

The threatened break on the color line has been successfully patched up, though in spite of all the protests the board refused to reconsider its nonratification of the New Era Club's admission and last night there was not a woman who believed that the race question will come officially before the convention. Mrs. Lowe's election was unanimous, and the Federation of Women's Clubs is going to go on with its biennials undisturbed by fretful undercurrents.

Some Animated Discussion.

With the dramatic settling of the long-discussed question of reorganization, the failure of the board of directors to take the color question from the table, and the secret session of the nominating committee until midnight, gave the delegates animated topics for conversation.

As was prophesied yesterday reorganization was lost overwhelmingly, the vote standing 498 against and 298 for reorganization. From the first of the two hours' debate there was considerable excitement. At times there were as many as twenty women on the floor demanding recognition and the parliamentary wrangles that cropped out from time to time made it spirited for the president, who, however, made just decisions and stood by them, often winning applause.

The speeches, however, were of a high order and showed the women were conversant with the many sides of the issue.

Color Line Dispute Rests.

Not the slightest sensation developed on the color question today. Mrs. Josephine Ruffin, the colored delegate, found it convenient not to take a seat in the convention, as she had contemplated, her delegation evidently wishing that the contest, which by the way will not down by any means, should be conducted in a most dignified way. Owing to the number of protests, which have come to the board of directors, it held a special meeting this afternoon. The session was short, lasting only half an hour.

GEN. OTIS DOUBTS AGUINALDO'S DEATH

But He Is Sure the Filipino War Is Over—Has Kimd Words for Admiral Dewey.

Chicago, June 8—[Special Telegram]—General Otis arrived from San Francisco early this morning and departed two hours later for the east. He doubted the report that Aguinaldo was dead, but was sure the revolution was. He had read about Dewey being a candidate for president. He admired the Admiral very much, and was on good terms with him at Manila. That is all he could say about Dewey as a candidate. He believed the trouble in China was very serious, and would cause the powers much worry. He declined to say a word about the Boer war. He had heard nothing of his assignment to the Department of the Lakes, but would do what he was told.

It is trying to throw its work upon other organs. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will stop this. It makes the liver do its duty and thus, the stomach, bowels and nerves cease to annoy. The following delegates at large to the national convention were elected: Col. E. K. Graves, Hartford; James P. Figott, New Haven; Bryan F. Mahan, New London; Homer S. Cummings, Stamford.

West Virginia Democrats.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 8.—After a continuous session of six and a half hours the democratic state convention concluded its work, making nominations as follows: For governor, John H. Holt; auditor, James H. Miller; treasurer, James Garland Hearst; supreme judges, John W. English and W. G. Bennett.

Street Railway Decision.

One system of street railways over some of which both freight and passengers are carried and cars from lines running to other towns are run is held, in Oren ex rel. Barbour vs. Pingree (Mich.), 46 L. R. A. 407, to constitute a work of internal improvement within the meaning of the Michigan constitution, which forbids the state to be interested in such works.

West Virginia's Coal.

West Virginia has 17,000 square miles of coal. Coal is found in fifty-one of her fifty-four counties. The state must have been situated in just the right place for the making of coal, for one-thirteenth of the entire coal deposit in the United States is found within her borders. The coal area here exceeds that of Pennsylvania by 1,000 square miles. It begins on the northern line of the state, gradually broadening as it goes south. The lowest of the upper productive measures, the Pittsburg seam, is found in the northern and central parts of the state.

OHIO PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEWEY

Festivities in Honor of the Admiral Continue at Columbus.

Columbus, O., June 8.—Admiral Dewey was astir early. He is helpless in the hands of his friends, who claim his entire time that they may pay elaborate tribute to him. Although yesterday's festivities were exacting on the strength of the admiral, he arose in fine feitle and ready for the hard day ahead of him, every minute of which had some event scheduled, up to 11 p. m., when he opened a ball and participated in a banquet.

From 9:30 until 11 he greeted the public there being a steady flow of people with outstretched hands. The ordeal of the public reception was followed by a delightful luncheon given by a select party at the Columbus club. Mrs. Dewey had meantime been taken in charge by the ladies who conducted her to the residence of Mrs. James Kilbourne where she was similarly entertained.

The event of the afternoon was the great parade in which 10,000 men marched and which was reviewed at the state capitol by the admiral. Gen H. A. Axline was the grand marshal, having as his personal escort thirty companies of the Ohio national guard

In the evening there was a fireworks display at Franklin park, followed by the reception to Admiral and Mrs. Dewey at the Chittenden hotel and later the ball and banquet.

Home Life In Porto Rico.

To one unaccustomed to tropical conditions the furnishing of the Porto Rican home would at first sight seem meager, but it is quite ample. A short residence will demonstrate that nearly 500 years of experience with the unpleasant features of life in the West Indies have been crowned by a survival of the fittest in house furnishing as in other matters.

Austrian bent wood furniture and also wickerwork and willow ware constitute the main equipment of the parlors and living rooms. Upholstered furniture is unknown and undesired, little or no attempt being made at decoration except in the matter of embroidery and fine handmade lace work. Hundreds of yards of crochet work are used in the embellishment of a single canopied bed. This work is the chief delight of the Porto Rican housewife.

The walls are for the most part bare, but here and there a painting of merit may be seen. The sofa pillow is the one great feature of the home. It is everywhere, in every conceivable size, shape and material. Ferns of gigantic size and exquisite formation, as well as broad spreading palm leaves, are used to festoon the walls and arched doorways. Cut fresh from day to day, they render the dark, cool rooms inviting and attractive. Potted tropical plants in great variety abound within and without the house.—Harper's Bazar.

A Fisherman's Trick.

"One day I was talking fish with a number of friends," said an old fisherman, "and I made a bet that I could catch more perch than any other man in the party in a given time. The crowd picked out the most experienced fisherman in the lot, and we set a day to try our luck. The day before the match I got a large glass jar, filled it with water and put some minnows in it. Over the mouth of the jar I put a piece of parchment in which I had made some small holes. Then I went to a point just east of the waterworks, picked out a likely spot and sank the jar in the river, first attaching a cork float to it by which I could locate it next day.

"We went out for the fishing match the following afternoon, and I soon found my float and anchored there. The other man located a short distance away, and we began. The perch were just beginning to run, and in a little while I had pulled in 180 perch, while my opponent got only 24. Then he gave up, and I won my bet.

"I showed the boys the trick before we left the fishing ground. You can always in that way make a good catch of fish that will swallow minnows. The sight of the bait in the jar always attracts a crowd of fish and seems to put them in good biting humor."—Detroit Free Press.

CONGRESS HAS ADJOURNED.

Speaker Henderson Delivered His Valedictory.

MINORITY CRITICISES BUDGET.

The Session Just Closed Was an Interesting One — Illinois Man Gets an Alaskan Job—A Crank Makes a Scene in the Gallery.

Washington, June 8.—Congress adjourned sine die Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the house in scenes of excitement, the senate sedate and decorous. The principal feature of the closing day in the house was the reversal of its action last night in "turning down" the conferees on the naval bill for yielding on the item relating to ocean surveys. Over night the sentiment of the house underwent a complete change.

Speaker Henderson said in his valedictory:

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: We will in a few moments have completed our session's work. It has been a session of earnest, patriotic effort, of unremitting toil. This house has demonstrated that men may meet on great fields of contest and part as friends. This body has considered many great, novel national questions. That fervor which enters into debate on the eve of a great national conflict has been present, but guided by intelligence and manly courage. At the opening of this session I took the chair with that fear and apprehension which every conscientious man should feel. I appealed to you for support and kindly aid. Not for one moment have you forgotten that appeal, but your sustaining influence has made it possible to consider these mighty problems of the hour and never allow the legislator and the gentleman to sink below the high level of manhood. In parting, I wish you from my heart a pleasant vacation, and that you may all return to the duties of the next session refreshed in body and in mind. And, now, in pursuance of the concurrent resolution adopted by the two houses of congress, I declare this session adjourned without day."

As the gavel fell which ended the first session of the Fifty-sixth congress the members cheered again and again.

House Deserts Mr. Cannon.

When the house met in the morning to receive the conference report on the naval appropriation bill, which was the only business blocking final adjournment, Mr. Cannon and his associates were not ready to report an agreement, and the house adjourned until 12 o'clock. About 1:30 Mr. Cannon made a report of disagreement and suggested to the house an amendment which he claimed would meet the instructions of the house on the ocean survey and at the same time be acceptable to the senate conferees. Mr. Dayton of West Virginia moved that the house accept the senate amendment which Mr. Cannon had been opposing. This brought the question to a fair issue, and the house within fifteen hours reversed itself, deserted Mr. Cannon and adopted the amendment which it previously had refused to accept.

Minority Criticises the Budget.

Washington, June 8.—Representative Livingston of Georgia, of the house committee on appropriations, made a statement as to the appropriations from the standpoint of the minority, criticising the amounts as excessive.

Senate's Adjournment.

Washington, June 8.—As the senate prepared to adjourn, Mr. Cockrell (Mo.) offered the following resolution: "That the thanks of the senate are hereby tendered to the Hon. William P. Frye for the dignified, impartial and courteous manner with which he presided over its deliberations during the present session." Mr. Carter, in the chair, submitted the resolution to the senate, and it was adopted unanimously. On resuming the chair Mr. Frye said: "Senators: I appreciate very highly the expression of your confidence and approval, but I think I should thank you, rather than you me. Your uniform kindness to me has made the duty of presiding over your deliberations a pleasure, not a task. I wish you agreeable and safe journeys to your homes, and hope that our dear Lord will permit you all, us all, to meet here in the chamber next December."

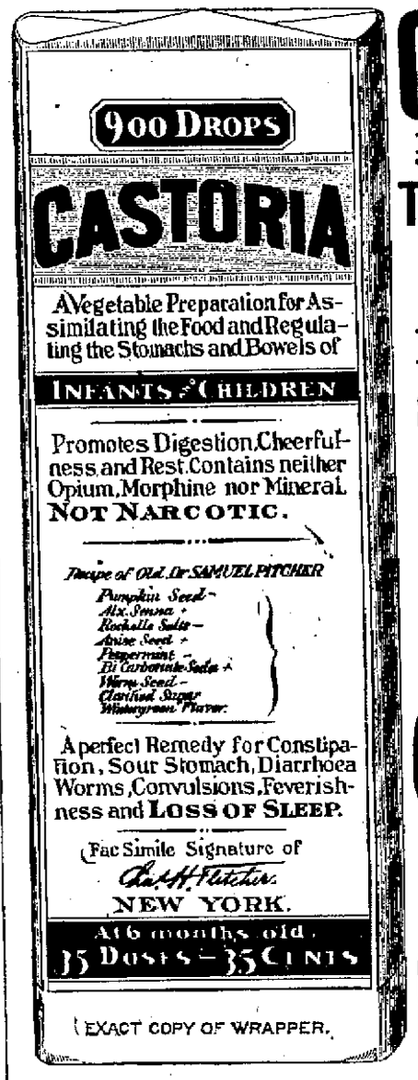

At 5 o'clock the president's gavel fell and Mr. Frye declared the senate adjourned sine die. As the people were streaming from the galleries a fine-looking, gray-haired man rose in the gentlemen's gallery, and, raising his hat high above his head and looking upward, shouted: "A message from the great white throne. Jesus is coming soon." He is the same man who, at the conclusion of the Grant ceremonies in the house of representatives, a short time ago, made a similar demonstration.

Distin Gets an Alaska Job.

Washington, June 8.—The president has appointed William L. Distin of Illinois to be surveyor-general for the district of Alaska, and the nomination, at the request of Senator Cullom, was confirmed by the senate shortly before adjournment. Distin is from Quincy.

Boer Dispute Ends in Murder.

Santiago de Cuba, June 8.—J. T. Bryce of Savannah, Ga., killed a Jamaican named Constantine in a fight growing out of a remark by Bryce that if the Americans, instead of the English, had been fighting the Boers, the Transvaal war would have terminated long ago.

COMPLIMENTS NATIONAL GUARD.

On May 15 the house bill making appropriations for the military academy being under discussion, Congressman Davidson took opportunity to speak on the bill and to express his gratification at the action of the house in passing the bill increasing the appropriation for the National Guard from $400,000 to $1,000,000. In the course of the speech Mr. Davidson said:

"The National Guard of Wisconsin, owing to the high state of efficiency to which it has been brought by its present adjutant general and by his predecessors in office, stands today, in my judgment, second to none in the country. Before the Spanish war this national Guard was in splendid condition. It has the annual drill at a camp where lessons in practical campaign work are thoroughly taught, and it is to the honor of the Wisconsin National Guard that within four hours after orders were received from the general government the quota to which Wisconsin was entitled was filled and the several companies and regiments were on board trains enroute to the place of rendezvous.

"As a further illustration of their efficiency and splendid organization, I desire to refer to an incident which took place at Chicamauga, to which camp they were ordered. As the Wisconsin regiments left the train and marched to the place assigned them in the camp, they passed in review before the general commanding, who asked, 'What regiments are these?' When told that they were the National Guard of Wisconsin, he replied, 'Those regiments are ready to go to the front today.' Since the close of the Spanish war the National Guard of our state has been thoroughly reorganized and today is in better condition than ever before. At enlistment each man is thoroughly inspected, and, in my judgment, almost without exception the companies as now made up would pass the necessary examination to entitle each man to be mustered into the United States service. The militia has never been found wanting in patriotism or in readiness to serve its country.

"Its members are the flower of the state. They are men of character, intelligence and education—men who do not enlist for the purpose of being supported by the state or by the government, but for the purpose of being educated in the science of warfare, that they may better serve their country in her hour of need. They devote many hours and days to this service without compensation. How important it is, therefore that when the country does need their services, it should be in a position to secure it, and in return it should not hesitate to appropriate sufficient money so that the guard may be thoroughly equipped and ready for whatever service they may be called upon to perform.

The wheat market gained nearly 3 cents and held most of advance at close. Trading was on tremendous scale. All commission houses apparently have buying orders. Bull incendive was continued lack of rain in northwest and reports from numerous authorities that crop in that section would not be over half an average yield. Local professionals were big buyers and there was also heavy demand from northwest. Primary and clearances fair. Liverpool was up 1D, Paris was 20C higher. Shipping demand slow as foreign markets failed to follow sharp rise here.

Corn was dull and rather heavy early but later spurted up about 1½ cent in sympathy with wheat. Bull interests bid prices up and shorts rushed to cover. There was fair shipping demand but vessels were scarce. Clearances moderate. Liverpool unchanged.

Oats were quiet and very strong in sympathy with other grains.

Provisions were slow at first but close developed decidedly stronger.

GOV. SCOFIELD ON DUTIES OF CITIZENS

THOUGHTFUL ADDRESS DELIVERED HERE LAST NIGHT.

Opening Session of the Convention of the Wisconsin Municipal League—Speech of Welcome Made by Mayor Richardson—Response by Mayor Douglas of Monroe.

The informal opening of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities in the Circuit Court Chambers last evening was an interesting and instructive event but the small attendance was not encouraging. The orchestra from the State School for the Blind was present and gave some excellent music. Mayor V. P. Richardson opened the meeting with an address of welcome. He said in part:

"Such occasions as this mark an epoch in the development of municipal government for never until such leagues as this were formed have the citizens of different cities united in one common effort for mutual good and the result of the work of this and similar organizations must be great and far reaching.

"Aside from those who have given the matter study few of us realize the great struggle that is going on all around us and of which we are a part. The great struggle between those forces in our civilization which on the one hand would rob us of our individuality as citizens and on the other hand would strengthen us against that centralization of power that if unrestrained will prove our ruin as a nation.

"Out of the chaos that terminated a generation ago in our civil war, there soon appeared these two forces, the one tending towards the building up of a great national power, which by moral and physical force is to impress our forms and our ideals on the other people of the world, and the other which by building up the rights of the individual is to so preserve the standing of the citizen that while we have the strongest, we will have at the same time the freest government in the world. This combination has always been the aim of statesmen and the dream of every lover of mankind.

"I desire to congratulate you upon the disinterested motives that have caused you to take up this work. While it must be of value to the citizens which you represent, it can be carried on only by self sacrifice on your part. This unselfishness marks the highest type of citizenship, the man who honestly strives to serve his fellow citizens.

"As the representative of our city, officers and citizens in general, I welcome you to Janesville."

Mayor Douglas Responds.

Mayor A. S. Douglas of Monroe, president of the League followed Mayor Richardson in a response to the welcome. In referring to the Municipal League he said that being non-partisan in character and general in its aims and purposes, it cannot be otherwise than productive of good. The League has no fads to exploit and no theories of municipal government to promote, but it is among the aims of the organization to meet the practical municipal questions of the day with intelligent thought and to suggest proper and adequate action. By this organization much foolish expenditure of money will be saved. The Leagues all over the United States are working for a model charter which shall abolish the evils now attendant upon municipal government and grant home rule to the large cities with complete legislative power vested in the common council

Then followed Governor Scofield in a pithy and pointed address on the duties of citizenship as follows:

Gov. Sofield's Address

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—Citizenship, its duties and possibilities, is a well-worn subject in public gatherings of this kind; but if it were more threadbare than it is, it would still be timely and appropriate, for we are yet far, in this great nation of ours, from an ideal citizenship. Indeed it is doubtful if we have yet conceived an ideal, high enough for those enjoying the glorious privilege of American citizenship to reach after. We can never form an ideal, however, any more than we can reach one, without seeking to do so; and the truest and most effective seeking, here as in other fields, is in the application of remedies to known evils. That is to say, we will the sooner reach an ideal citizenship by remedying the evils we see, neglecting none.

There are higher interests involved in citizenship than those of dollars and cents, though all interests are so closely related as to be difficult of separation. Those considered as purely political, are highly important; and here our sins of omission are still greater than in the domain of business. I do not ask you to become statesmen or politicians, but citizens in the truest sense, when I urge you to come to an intelligent understanding of your obligations. We do not need political doctrinarians who theorize upon the political duties of others, but citizens who will recognize those duties as personal, and will courageously perform them.

Political and Religious Duties

So important is it that the political obligations of citizenship be met, that I am disposed to class them with religious duties. The founders of this nation so classed them. We shall reach a higher civilization when every intelligent man comes to place the duties of citizenship among the sacred obligations of life. A man cannot neglect his duty to his family without being an object of reproach; yet by common consent and participation in the wrong, we excuse the man who ignores his obligations to the state which protects him and makes it possible for him to provide for his family.

So many evils flow from this indifference to, or ignorance of, our political obligations, that it cannot be too severely deprecated, nor touched upon too often. You who are dissatisfied with the public service, do you know that the remedy for the evil lies in your own hands? You who object that politics are run in the interest of the few, and that few the worst, can make politics what you will. In the one matter of the civil service do you not know that if the people of this state generally were to interest themselves but for a year or two in primary elections, the whole system of public service would be revolutionized and all appointive offices would be filled on the basis of competency and fitness, and the tenure of the incumbents made to rest upon merit, rather than upon obligations for political service? This, gentlemen, is practical civil service reform.

Must Not Shirk Responsibilities

To the average citizen the work of carrying on public affairs seems remote, and he does not charge himself with the duty of getting near to it. But it means very much to your interest and mine that public business be discreetly and honestly conducted, and we certainly should keep ourselves informed whether it is. What is more important to us than that we should have an upright and wise administration of public affairs? What comes closer to us than those rights guaranteed us by our citizenship, and which we place in jeopardy by the neglect of the simplest duties? I wish tonight to emphasize the fact that wherein the public business, either municipal or state, is not conducted wisely and honestly, you and I are to blame. We cannot shirk our responsibility by wilfully remaining in ignorance of the facts. The primary principles of business integrity establish our responsibility. Perhaps in no one particular is the lack of a proper sense of responsibility known so clearly as in the matter of tax-paying. There can be little doubt that the American people are more careless, to put it mildly, in regard to tax-paying than in relation to any other public duty. It is not that more money is needed. Certainly our own state is raising all it needs at present, and something beside; but the trouble is rather the disposition to avoid paying which is so generally manifest, and here our citizenship must be improved if we are to continue to grow as a nation. I wish to say here, in passing, that on the administrative side of government there is shown too much of a tendency to increase the public revenue through taxation. There is a serious danger here. Every dollar raised by taxation beyond the legitimate needs of government invites extravagance and corruption, and thus jeopardizes the welfare of the state or nation.

Laws Not a Panacea for All Ills

There is too much of a disposition to look at the making of laws as the panacea for all the ills that beset us. But it is of so much greater importance, in the narrowest, as in the widest sense, that each man do his duty honestly as a citizen. What we need is not more laws, but some method of so stimulating the conscience of the individual, that a man will be ashamed not to meet his political obligations. If each will "build over against his own house, the wall of protection against corrupt methods in politics and slatternly ways of administering public affairs, will rise."

There is no law or principle which will absolve us from a strict compliance with the duties of citizenship. You can no more delegate the duties of citizenship than you can delegate your religious duties. You and I have no right to neglect a single duty which it places upon us, in the hope that that duty will be performed by another. It is just as true in the political world as in the field of morals, that whatever work you and I leave undone will never be performed. I wish I might impress this upon you strongly. What we need above all things, and it is so plainly emphasized—especially in every city election in this state—is an awakening of the public conscience upon the subject of citizenship.

Our Duties as Citizens

It is blind patriotism to sit complaisantly trusting in the greatness of our American institutions while those institutions are being undermined through our neglect to properly protect them. I have no doubt that the majority of you are keenly alive to your religious duties, but I am here to say that no man can be truly religious, no man can be much more than a hypocrite, who is devoting himself to his so-called religious duties and neglecting the great duties of citizenship. I mean by that that true religion is altruistic; it is the golden rule applied to the things of every-day life; and the man who does not do his manifest duty toward his fellowmen, cannot be truly religious. I am making no mistake here. I do not wish to detract any from the importance of the religious obligations which rest upon every man, but I want to emphasize and give proper importance to those which, in the highest sense, are religious—our duties as citizens.

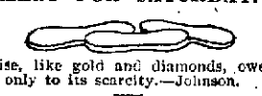

Every time a dollar of the public money is wrongly expended it is our fault. And the real evil is not merely that there may be public money extravagantly used, or that there may be corruption in its expenditure, but for every dollar that is wrongly expended, the beneficiaries of the state, the helpless classes which we have so generously tried to provide for, are wronged, and public morals are to that extent debauched. Every man who has a pride in being a citizen of this state, or who receives the protection of the state, should feel a personal responsibility in this matter; and where the sense of responsibility is lacking, both the individual and the state must suffer.

MAYOR RICHARDSON ELECTED PRESIDENT

State Municipal League in Session Here Today.

ABLE ADDRESS ON DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST CITIES.

Madison Delegates in a Clash Over a Paper Read by a University Professor—Interesting Papers by Wm. J. Anderson and Stephen W. Gilman—Those Who Are Present from Other Towns—Importance and Usefulness of the League Growing—Election of Officers and Selection of Next Convention Late This Afternoon—Entertainment and Banquet Tonight—Next Convention Will be Held at Viroqua.

When the meeting of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities was called to order this morning by President A. S. Douglas of Monroe about fifty visitors were in attendance. The session was called in the Rock county circuit court chamber.

The first number on the program was given by Stephen W. Gilman a member of the state commission to unify and simplify state accounting. He took for his subject: "The Relation of Uniform State Accounting to Wisconsin Municipalities." The paper presented was a lengthy and a most interesting one bringing out many facts that were of special value to those present. Liberal applause followed.

But it was left to Dean J. B. Johnson of the College of Engineering of the Wisconsin State University to come forth with a subject that was the means of bringing out a warm controversy that for a time looked as though it would cause serious trouble.

Madison Men Clash

The well known University Dean took for his subject: "The Recent Revolution in the Scientific Disposal of Sewerage." After reading several pages of well prepared manuscript Dean Johnson took his seat, but had no sooner settled himself, when City Attorney John A. Aylward of Madison took the floor and commenced to ask several questions of the Dean regarding why his paper favored a certain plan of sewerage that had not been adopted by the city of Madison.

One word lead to another and for awhile some warm remarks passed between the interested gentlemen.

While City Attorney Aylward was reading notes that were in direct opposition to Dean Johnson's paper, Dean Johnson suddenly jumped to his feet and stated that as it was noon he would leave in order to board the 12:55 train for home.

Took It As An Insult.

With eyes flashing with anger Attorney Aylward said: "I take that as an insult." Then turning to the presiding chairman he said: "Dean Johnson has no reason to insult me in that way either as a professor or a gentleman. I supposed that he prepared a paper and was ready to defend it."

Several other speakers took part and the controversy assumed such a warm phase that Mayor Douglas was obliged to rap for order. With hat in hand Dean Johnson made for the door during the warm discussion and quietly made his exit with only Mayor Richardson on hand to bid him farewell. This ended the morning session.

The Afternoon Program.

The afternoon program was called at 2 o'clock. City Attorney Aylward of Madison, was the first speaker on the program and for his subject he took: "Damage Suits Against Municipalities."

William J. Anderson, member of the state tax commission, was next on the program taking for his topic, "The Relation of the Tax Payer to Municipal Expenditure."

Later this afternoon there will be an election of officers for the ensuing year, and the next meeting place for the League will be decided.

Banquet up the River.

At the close of the session the visiting guests will be entertained with a boat ride up the river, stopping at Crystal Springs for a banquet. Several of the Janesville city officials will enjoy this part of the program. The Y. M. C. A. band will play on the boat trip, and on the return to the city many of the visitors will take their departure for home.

Municipal Damage Suits

"Damage Suits Against Municipalities" was the subject spoken of by John A. Alyward, city attorney of Madison. Mr. Alyward is recognized as an authority on such litigation, and his paper is therefore of exceptional interest. After quoting the law, and giving a history of the various enactments, he said:

At Madison we especially pride ourselves upon our excellent streets and the excellent condition of repair in which we keep our sidewalks, yet at one time, during my time as city attorney, there were claims against the city for personal injuries in a sum exceeding fifty thousand dollars. This may be due in part to that fact that we always have an over-supply of attorneys at the Capitol City. I was informed by the plaintiff in a case, which council recently authorized settled, that on the morning following the injury that no less than four attorneys visited him for the purpose of litigating any rights he might have against the city, and some of them were reputable and responsible attorneys.

The experience of Janesville has been somewhat similar to our own. In the larger cities firms are organized for the purpose of carrying on such suits. They comply with the law in part in that the client pays the actual cost and the attorneys take chances for the balance. It has gone so far in large cities that such firms have so-called runners, who are over on the alert for news of injuries caused by defective streets or by railway corporations, and who immediately go out and solicit the prosecution of such suits. I have examined only the last three volumes of the Wisconsin Reports and I find of such cases that were carried to the Supreme court, five are reported in Volume 103, four in Volume 102 and ten in Volume 101, which include the case of Hyer against Janesville and five in Volume 100, which includes the cases of Baines against Janesville and Selleck against Janesville. It is probable that not one claim for injuries against municipalities in cities finally reached the Supreme court. The larger number are started on speculation and if it is found that the municipality fails to respond in damages, that is the end of the matter.

Business Among Attorneys

Many others that have some merit in them are settled, others are tried in the Circuit court and a conclusion reached. Many attorneys instituting these suits rely largely for their hope of success in the well known fact that juries are easily influenced and prejudiced in favor of a private individual, who has received an injury, especially if he be poor, as against a municipal corporation. They rely on the fact that men's prejudices are more easily aroused and their sympathy appealed to than their judgment, and with the great majority of men prejudice and sympathy easily outweigh judgment. Some of the best known railroad lawyers, recognizing this fact in the trial of actions against railroad corporations, seek only to get error into the case, hoping by repeated trials to tire out the litigant, and it is to be regretted that such tactics are very often successful.

Matters had come to such a pass on my election as city attorney, that at the first meeting of the judiciary committee I was instructed to contest every claim of this nature that was presented, unless on examination of the fact I was absolutely persuaded that the claim had merit and that the city was at fault. If I found this condition I was requested to so report to the committee and to recommend the best settlement that could be made. I was told by committee that I was expected to put an end, as far as possible, to what had almost grown to be an industry in the preservation of personal injury claims against the city.

My first duty was to avoid, as far as possible, any fault or neglect on the part of the city. I found that there were a number of claims pending, in respect to which there was no information on file or elsewhere that I could learn. The difficulty of defending against claims, under these circumstances, was very apparent. I therefore consulted with the chief of police and the street commissioner and sidewalk inspector, asking them them to inform the city attorney's office immediately on receiving word of any accident, and also as far as possible to keep things in the condition in which they were at the time of the accident, until an examination could be made.

Precautions Taken

I found the different officers very willing to help in the matter, and they have been of great service. They have uniformly notified me at once of the happening of any case happening on any street or sidewalk in the city, and I have made the practice of visiting the place of accident at once and to take notes of everything that I thought would have a bearing upon the case, and also to call in reputable witnesses to notice the condition of things as they were at that time. This enables me to make an intelligent report to the judiciary committee respecting the different claims that were before them, and also when it came to a lawsuit to be prepared to properly try the case.

In addition to this I have, as far as possible immediately had a photograph taken of the scene of the accident and have, in every way, tried to collect all the information that was available immediately following the accident. By reference to my book kept for that purpose I find that I have the history of a number of cases where claims were not presented, but I believe this practice has prevented the filing of many claims and has also prevented the bringing of many suits after claims had been rejected. It has also enabled me to report to the committee cases where the accident happended through the fault of the city, and to do justice to parties injured through the neglect of the city. During the past five years the city has been advised to settle five or six cases but has never paid a sum exceeding three hundred dollars. I found that contractors and builders in placing building materials upon the street and digging trenches and leaving them unguarded, was a frequent cause of injury and plaint.

Resist to the Utmost

When the matter was called to the attention of the council the city passed a vigorous ordinance against this practice, and the police have been diligent in enforcing it. It has only been necessary to cause an arrest on rare occasions, and has resulted in saving the city many suits, and probably large sums for damages. During my term the city has been obliged to defend a large number of cases in the circuit court, but the committee early instructed me that when suit was once resorted to if I found that the city was not in fault, to resist it to the utmost.

This instruction I have followed to the best of my ability, with the result that during the past five years the city has been successful in resisting every claim for damage on which suit has been instituted. Our experience in the matter has been peculiarly fortunate. I believe that our plan, if such it may be called, has been largely responsible for the result. In the first place we have tried to keep our streets and sidewalks in good repair. Secondly, we have tried to fully inform ourselves at once as soon as an accident occurred.

Under the old law where the law allowed sixty days for the giving of notice was often abused. Attorneys would withhold the notice until the last day, in order to keep the facts from the officers of the municipality. Often the condition of the highway had entirely changed and it was almost possible to prepare a defense. This was true in the case of Benson against the city of Madison, where the notice was not served unil the fifty-ninth day. The condition of the street had wholly changed and it was almost impossible to prepare a defense. The plaintiff was very badly injured and injured for life.

On an appeal to the Supreme court the judgment was reversed and the case dismissed. In that case the attorneys for the plaintiff held the notice for fifty-nine days, although the notice was sworn to within ten days after the injury. Fortunately for the city, however, the Supreme court held the notice insufficient and defective and the case was dismissed.

MERCHANT'S PLEDGE CONSIDERABLE CASH

FAVOR HOLDING CELEBRATION ON THE FOURTH.

Four Hundred Dollars Was Raised in a Short Space of Time—The Four Banks Head the List—Committee Will Soon be Appointed and a Meeting Will be Called.

Four hundred and twenty-two dollars and fifty cents has been pledged by a small portion of the merchants of Janesville to favor the holding of a Fourth of July celebration in the Bower City next month. A short canvass by George D. Simpson and E. C. Johnson resulted in the above sum being raised. The list is headed br the four local banks who have subscribed as follow: First National, $25; Rock County, $25; Merchants and Mechanics, $25: Bower City, $15.

Every merchant called on was in favor of holding a grand time in Janesville on the coming Fourth, all being of the opinion that there was yet plenty of time to take the necessary action. Mayor Richardson will soon call a meeting to take some definite action. In case a thorough canvass of the city is made there is little doubt but what $1,000 could easily be made.

Forgetfulness or Ingratitude.

Milton, Wis., June 7, 1900. To the Editor—The rudeness of the southern contingent to Mrs. Ruffin strikes an outsider as a serious case of forgetfulness or is it ingratitude on their part, for it was Edward Ruffin, the father of Mrs. Ruffin's husband, who had the distinction of pulling the lanyard of the first gun fired against Fort Sumpter in '61. BUGGY STEP CAUSED TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

TWENTY-FIVE STITCHES REQUIRED TO CLOSE WOUND.

Injury to Six Year Old Boy Came Near Causing Death—Accident Was a Most Peculiar One—Fell from a Buggy Catching His Head on the Iron Step as He Fell.

While accidentally falling from a buggy this morning the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kehlm of the town of Harmony, caught his head on the iron buggy step cutting a gash on the right side of his head back of the ear that came near resulting in death. The scalp was raised from the skull so that a space of several square inches was exposed. The attending physician took twenty five stitches in the wound. The injured boy will recover unless inflammation sets it, The accident was a peculiar one.

This morning E. O. Brown of this city, started to drive out in the town of Harmon on business. When five miles out he came across three little children on their way to the country school. Mr. Brown kindly asked the little trio to ride with them. They all accepted. When the school house was reached the children thanked Mr. Brown and started to get out. The first two alighted with safety but the third child was about to get out when he suddenly fell striking on the iron step with violent force. The fall had resulted in a most serious accident.

The little fellow's scalp was laid bare in a shocking manner behind the right ear. Blood flowed freely and for fear the injury might cause the child to bleed to death Mr. Brown placed the injured lad in his buggy and with all possible haste drove to the office of Dr. W. H. Judd. Assisted by Dr. Loomis the injury was dressed. Mr. Brown regrets much the unfortunate accident and done all in his power to comfort the injured boy.

THE TROOPS FEAR BOXERS.

Chinese General Nieh Refused to Stop Ravages.

London, June 8.—Telegraphing from Tien-Tsin, under date of June 6, a correspondent says: "I left Tien-Tsin this morning en route for Peking, accompanied by General Nieh, supposed to be one of the best of the Chinese generals, with sixty troops. We proceeded to Lofa, a distance of thirty-one miles. We found the plate-layers' cabins in flames and telegraph poles cut, and men engaged in destroying others in villages near the railway, where flags were seen bearing the inscription, 'Kill all foreigners.'

"I saw smoke, evidently from burning houses, in the distance, but General Nieh refused to proceed further, being in mortal fear of the Boxers, though the foreigners endeavored to persuade him to disentrain his troops, who are firmly convinced that it is useless to fight the Boxers, as other Chinese say they have seen Boxers hit with bullets rise and run away.

"There seems to be little prospect of a resumption of traffic to Peking unless the foreign powers assume control of the railway until the Chinese government proves itself capable of managing communications with its capital."

THE BOERS' NEW CAPITAL

Is in a Railway Car on a Switch.

THE GOVERNMENT IS EFFCTIVE

Says President Kruger—He Says the Occupation of Pretoria by the British Does Not End the War—The Burghers Determined to Fight to the Last.

London, June 8.—The executive offices of the Transvaal government are in a railway car which is shunted on a switch at Machadorp station. President Kruger caused the interior of the coach to be reconstructed some time ago with a view to contingencies that have now arrived. A correspondent of the Daily Express, who went from Lorenco Marques to see President Kruger, was received. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed! The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London.

"Yes," said President Kruger: "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the fine work Steyne and Dewet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital!" exclaimed Mr. Kruger, with energy. "What is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

EXPECT BOERS WILL FIGHT.

British See Signs That the Burghers Regard Themselves Far from Beaten.

London, June 8.—Interest in the war in South Africa again centers in the Orange river colony, where a force of 6,00 burghers, under President Steyn, is actively threatening the British line of communications between Bloemfontein and Pretoria. Reports indicate that Gen. Rundle and Gen. Brabant, who have been in the territory around Ficksburg, are now compelled to retire slightly to the south, apparently to make it possible for the British troops commanded by Gens. Methuen and Clements to deploy in a semicircle from Heilbron to Ficksburg, for the purpose of joining the colonial force at the latter point in a movement to envelop President Steyn's army, which is advancing on Winburg. With the news of the burghers' resurrection in the Orange river colony, comes word that the railway has been destroyed for many miles south of the Vereeniging and Meyerton, menacing Lord Roberts' line between Johannesburg and the river. London expects that the latest advices from the field marshal will report the beginning of operations for the purpose of effecting a junction with Gen. Buller in the Laing's nek region. This movement is necessary, not only to relieve Gen. Buller's front, but to provide a new line of communication through Natal to the seaboard. It is believed that when the Boers, now holding Gen. Buller in check, are pressed by Lord Roberts' columns, advancing from the west, there will be a general trek northward for a final stand in the Lydenbeurg mountains. The burghers opposing Sir Redvers Buller are commanded by Gen. Botha. There is no news as to the whereabouts or intentions of President Kruger. The Transvaal executive apparently has his hand on the throttle of the state engine, and there are not lacking signs in every direction that there is plenty of hard fighting in store for her majesty's troops.

Peddler Once a Millionaire.

Boston, Mass., June 8.—C. H. North, formerly head of the North Packing company, doing a business of $8,000,000 a year, now peddles vegetables in the Prospect Hill district, Somerville, bareheaded and with ragged clothes and broken shoes.

"If I could only get $5,000," he says, "I could get on my feet again and look after my property, the Nebraska Stockyards company." He still lives in the big house on Prospect Hill where once his wife and eight children lived with him in luxury. He occupies two rooms only and rents the others. Mr. North declares he has "been robbed of $5,000,000" and is bitter against the Swifts and against Mr. Skilton.

Pursuing Husband Is Slain.

Dallas, Tex., June 8.—George Andrews, a farmer of Newton county, was killed by Albert Sinclair. Andrews charged Sinclair with eloping with Mrs. Andrews. The husband pursued the couple, and when within 100 yards opened fire with a rifle. Sinclair returned the fire, shooting Andrews through the head. Sinclair and Mrs. Andrews are in the Newton county jail.

SHOT IN STRIKE RIOTS.

Policemen and Boy Wounded in St. Louis Encounters.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—Policeman Coates, two other policemen and a boy named Will Gettling were shot during riots which occurred while an attempt was being made to put a branch of the transit system in operation. The policemen were standing beside a patrol wagon trying to beat back a crowd of howling rioters which had intercepted a car at Kossuth and Glasgow avenue when the shooting began. About five shots were fired by persons in the crowd, and Coates fell at the first fire. The bullet struck him in the back, and seems to have produced a fatal wound. Two other officers were also shot, and one of these may die.

At Sixteenth and O'Fallon streets six mounted policemen attempted to force a passage for a street car of the same line through a crowd which had gathered to hoot and stone them. Bricks and stones were hurled at the crowd, but the police refused to charge till somebody in the crowd began to shoot. The boy Gettling fell at the first fire, and then the police charged the mob, slashing them with sabers. One policeman fired three shots at men who were throwing stones, but beyond the saber wounds which many suffered and the shooting of Gettling nobody was seriously hurt. The posse comitatus, which has been in training for a week, was not near the scenes of the rioting.

Attacked by a Lunatic.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 8.—Frederick Vogel, aged 24, of North Fairmount, gave the Rev. Dr. Conzett a desperate struggle Thursday afternoon. The young man recently went insane on religious topics, and the minister started to take him to the probate court in a carriage. En route Vogel grew wild. The aged minister, who was not able to cope with the youth in strength, calmed him with words, but time and again he broke out, and finally leaped from the carriage. Pedestrians caught him. When they reached the courthouse the lunatic escaped, but Policeman Haustetter caught him.

"Jack the Peeper" Arrested.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 8.—Several families on Montgomery street were annoyed last night by a man peeping through their windows. A man who gave his name as John H. Rowe was caught in the act of peeping in a window of the house of George Metcalf. Rowe said that he was listening to the music inside. Recorder Morschauser, after hearing the evidence, sent Rowe to the penitentiary for six months. Rowe is a lumber merchant in Minneapolis and came on here several weeks ago on account of the serious illness of his mother. Pending an appeal, Rowe was released from custody.

Test the Edison Process.

Santa Fe, N. M., June 8.—S. G. Burn, manager of the Galisteo company, operating on the Ortiz grant in this county, made the official announcement that the new Edison process of extracting gold from gravel at the cost of but a few cents per ton of gravel has proved a success at the experiment mill at Dolores. The nature of the process is kept a secret. Thomas B. Edison will be at Dolores this month to make the preliminary arrangements for the erection of a large plant.

Grand Stand Is Blown Down.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 8.—The baseball game between the Chicago bloomer girls and a male team at South Pittsburg, Tenn., was cut short by a violent storm, in which the grandstand, occupied by 500 people, was blown to the ground and several persons were seriously injured. They were pinioned beneath the timbers, and it was some time before they could be extricated. Some of them narrowly escaped death.

THE COLORADO DEMOCRATS.

The State Convention Meets at Denver—Factions in Hot Contest.

Denver, Col., June 8.—The state Democratic convention easily surpassed in attendance any similar gathering of that party ever held in Colorado. More than 1,000 delegates, including two Arapahoe county delegations of 164 members each, were assembled in the Tabor Grand opera house at 10:30 o'clock, the hour at which the convention was to meet.

As the Arapahoe contest will have to be decided by the convention after investigation by the committee on credentials it is believed that the convention will last two days. Of the 723 delegates from outside Denver and Arapahoe county who will determine which faction in this city is entitled to be considered the regular organization, the supporters of Gov. Thomas claim assurances of 425 votes, while the Maloney delegation claims 500.

Whatever the outcome of the contest may be, it is believed that Gov. Chas. S. Thomas will head the Colorado delegation to the national convention, and that T. J. Maloney and T. J. O'Donnell will also be chosen as delegates. Other candidates are A. T. Gunnell of Colorado Springs, T. B. Collier of Trididad, Charles Henkle of Pueblo, George Robson of Clear Creek, James Doyle of Victor, and G. R. Fitzgerald of San Miguel. The convention may decide to elect the state's entire representation of eight in the national convention as delegates-at-large.

Many Killed in a Storm.

Vinita, I. T., June 8.—A terrific storm passed through the town of Miami, I. T., dealing out destruction in its path. Thomas Skinner was sleeping in his wagon, and the wagon and contents were blown into the Neosho river, and Skinner was instantly killed. Many persons were instantly killed by falling timbers. Many houses were unroofed, and hay barns and sheds totally destroyed. The new Christian church, just completed, was destroyed, as was Cooler's fine livery barn. Much damage done at Oceuma, I. T. It is reported that several lives were lost in the country.

Wind Wrecks a Train.

Wichita, Kan., June 8.—While speeding across the prairie near Oswego, 145 miles east of here, at a rate of thirty miles an hour, a passenger train on the St. Louis & San Francisco railway, Conductor Guiney in charge, was struck by a tornado and every car thrown from the track. Only the engine and tender remained on the rails. The following persons were injured: Will Davis, tramp, left cheek cut open; Henry James, tramp, shoulder dislocated; Will Yetter, express messenger, ankle broken.

Stores Burned at Byron, Ill.

Byron, Ill., June 8.—A block of stores was burned, the fire starting in Carver's livery stable. Besides the stable, Brayton's restaurant, Reese's barber shop, O'Malley's saloon, Doyle's saloon in Union street, Gorman's saloon, the Byron Record office and Wagner's billiard parlor in Second street were destroyed. The loss is about $30,000.

Plans for Printers' Home.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 8.—The trustees of the Childs-Drexel Union Printers' Home of the United States and Canada have decided on improvements to cost $10,000. A sterilizing and disinfecting plant, essential in homes for consumptives, will be installed; also a steam laundry.

The Druggist Knows It is the Best.

"After having a mishap, I suffered with pain in my left side and a lingering cough which grew worse and worse," writes Mrs. Cora Brooks, of Martin, Franklin County, Georgia. "Last spring I got past doing anything and my husband went to the drug store and called for Wine of C——, and the merchant recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, so he bought one bottle. I began to take it as directed in the pamphlet wrapped around the bottle. The book said if the disease was complicated with cough to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' alternately, and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, on rising every morning. Mr. Brooks went back to the drug store and got the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I took it as directed. The cough left me at once and I began to get better so rapidly my husband was astonished at my improvement. I am now able to work on the farm and also do the washing for two families."

TAKING OF THE CENSUS

Discouraged Man's Account of One Day's Work.

THE TRIALS OF AN ENUMERATOR.

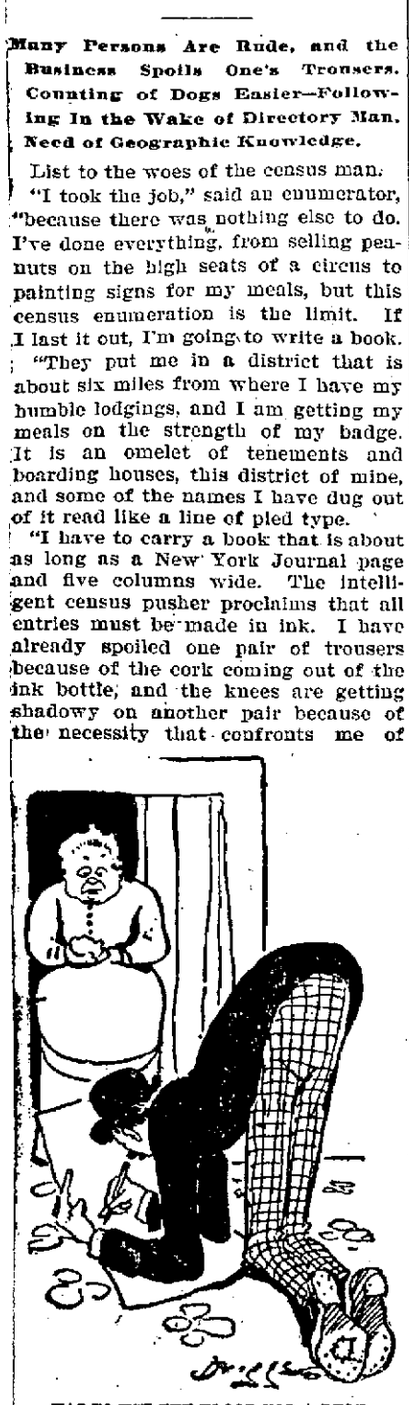

Many Persons Are Rude, and the Business Spoils One's Trousers. Counting of Dogs Easier—Following In the Wake of Directory Man. Need of Geographic Knowledge.

List to the woes of the census man.

"I took the job," said an enumerator, "because there was nothing else to do. I've done everything, from selling peanuts on the high seats of a circus to painting signs for my meals, but this census enumeration is the limit. If I last it out, I'm going to write a book.

"They put me in a district that is about six miles from where I have my humble lodgings, and I am getting my meals on the strength of my badge. It is an omelet of tenements and boarding houses, this district of mine, and some of the names I have dug out of it read like a line of pied type.

"I have to carry a book that is about as long as a New York Journal page and five columns wide. The intelligent census pusher proclaims that all entries must be made in ink. I have already spoiled one pair of trousers because of the cork coming out of the ink bottle, and the knees are getting shadowy on another pair because of the necessity that confronts me of writing on the floor. It appears that people don't like to let the census man past their front rooms, where there is never a table, and in order to make my entries I have to kneel down and make my laborious marks with the carpet for a desk.

HAS TO USE THE FLOOR FOR A DESK.

[This part of the enumerator's duties is exceedingly hard upon the shape and durability of his trousers.]

"I have eight blocks. They average 20 houses to a block. The houses average four stories—160 houses, 640 floors. On 480 floors there are three families to a floor, and each family will average four persons. It will take a better statistician than I am to figure out how many names I am expected to put down in my book between now (June 4) and June 15. I spent all Saturday, June 2, in one house and landed 90 names. If I could have included dogs, I would have had about 360 names. When they take the dog census of New York, count me in at 1 cent per dog. I'll make a fortune.

"Well," continued the enumerator as he blew the foam from a glass of beer and gingerly crossed his aching legs, "I started out Friday morning full of hope. The first house I struck was a rooming house. A servant answered my ring. I showed my badge, and she slammed the door in my face. She thought I was a deputy marshal come to serve dispossess papers. The landlady was two months behind in her rent. It took me two hours to get that house, and the net result was eight names, at 2½ cents a name—20 cents.

"The next place was a boarding house. The landlady looked as if she might accumulate medals in a weight lifting contest. I told her I was the census taker.

"'You're a liar!' she replied. 'The census man was here last week!'

"After some argument I learned that the city directory man had made a tour of the district a week ahead of me. I don't wish that directory man any hard luck, but I'd like to get about three swipes at him with an ax.

"Along about noon I struck a private sanitarium. A woman in a white cap furnished me with the information I desired. When it came to putting down her occupation, I wrote her as a nurse.

"'Sir,' she said as she arose and stood up before me, 'I'd have you understand that I'm no nurse. I have charge of the linen closet.'

"I came across a negro woman who was janitress of a house in my district. She had nine children, and it seemed to me that they were all of a size. I asked her where she was born.

"'Anne Arundel county,' she replied.

"'What state?' I asked.

"I thought she would have a fit. Her bosom heaved like the top of a circus tent on a windy day, and her eyes rolled until it looked as though they were hinged on ball bearings.

"Finally she gasped, 'You duh census man, an don't know what state Anne Arundel county is in?'

"I was compelled to confess ignorance, and I don't know yet. I will have to look it up.

"A lovely old lady and a daughter much younger and quite as lovely invited me to have a cup of tea and a piece of cake. That invitation came like money from home. They gave me all the information I wanted, and then the old lady intimated that she would like to talk to me.

"'You see,' she said, 'my daughter Lucy here is engaged to get married'—I looked at Lucy and blushed like a fire in a tar works—'and the man she is engaged to marry is 62 years old. Now, we're strangers in New York, and I want to ask you if you think she had better marry him. You ought to be able to tell us because you represent the government.'

"I told them I'd come back the next day, and I've been afraid to pass the house ever since.

"'Do you sleep here?' I asked a fat servant in a boarding house.

"'Half of me does,' was the reply. 'The other half I can't get into the stingy bed. I've worked for mean women, but this one beats any I ever saw. Why, do you know what she does? She'—

"I made a flying leap down the steps and escaped.

"As I rang the basement bell of one house a woman opened the door. She had a magnifying glass in her hand, and when I told her who I was she said she was glad to see me. She was the head of the house and the sole occupant of her apartment, save for one servant.

"'What is your business?' I inquired.

"She answered that she was an 'eradicator of superfluous hair from the faces of ladies.' Well, she had me stumped. Her trade was a new one on me, so I put her down as a barber.

"Four blondined women occupied a floor in a boarding house. One of them was propped up in an easy chair when I entered. I got all their pedigrees down to their occupations. When I sprung this question, the female who was acting as spokeswoman replied:

"'Florence and Bertha and me is actresses, but Mame'—pointing to the figure in the chair—'is a paralytic.'

"'What does your husband do?' I asked a woman who had four children and a dog and described herself as an 'expert lace renovator.'

"'He's a bum,' she replied. 'Do you know we've always had a bathtub in the house for six years—I always insist on a bathtub where I live—and he hasn't used it once? No, sir, not once. Just put that down, will you? But I don't suppose it will do any good, because he ain't got no more shame than a savage.'

"I said I'd put it down, and she let me go. Oh, this census job is fine. I think I'll write two books."—New York Journal.

COMPOUND MACHINE GUN.

Deadly Features of One Invented by a Boy.

Herman H. Toll, a boy of Clarinda, Ia., has invented a compound machine gun which has excited the interest of Congressman W. P. Hepburn, who is said to be impressed with its deadly possibilities.

The gun or guns consist of 144 rifles of small bore, which are mounted in a carriage resembling a mower's wagon, says the New York World. The muzzles point out of the rear of the wagon and are arranged in 12 tiers, with 12 guns in a tier.

All of these guns are connected by a lever, by one movement of which all the guns may be loaded, fired and the shells ejected. One operator can work the guns. Toll declares that at a mile range the gun can scatter bullets over a distance of 248 feet, putting a bullet every two feet. The compound gun, he declares, has a capacity of 8,640 bullets a minute.

New Livingstone Monument.

Livingstone enthusiasts are preparing to send into the heart of Africa a British monument to mark the spot where the explorer died, says the New York Sun. It is an obelisk of concrete blocks 20 feet high with metal panels on the four sides.

The Census Man.

Are you ready for the census?
Have you read the almanac?
Have you studied your ancestors
For a dozen cycles back?
Have you counted up your freckles?
Have you figured up your sins?
For you know you'll have to tell 'em
When the census man begins.

Have you added up the children?
Have you figured up your cash?
Did you ever find a button
In a dish of corn beef hash?
Are you deaf or blind or ugly?
Do you toe out or toe in?
All of this you'll have to answer
When the census man begins.

Do you lisp or squint or stammer?
Ever have the whooping cough?
Are you handy with the hammer?
Ever do a stunt at golf?
Are you fond of checkered neckties?
Ever fall and bark your shins?
Did you swear? You'll have to tell it
When the census man begins.

If your partner gave trump signal,
Would you lead him back the deuce?
Ever wear a porous plaster?
Was it hard to get it loose?
Are you fond of pickled onions?
Do you smoke or chew or swear?
Have you any corns or bunions?
What the size of shoe you wear?

Oh, you might as well look pleasant,
For you know you'll have to tell!
Would you use a bit more sugar
When the jelly doesn't jell?
What the nature of your labors?
Do you sugar your baked beans?
Are you friendly with the neighbors?
Do you live beyond your means?

Are you lean or stout or medium?
Do you suit yourself that way?
Did your vaccination take well?
Did you move the first of May?
If a bobtailed flush called aces,
Could you tell me which one wins?
Oh, you'll have to come to center
When the census man begins!

Are the children well this summer?
Are they troubled with the hives?
Don't you think pink teas are tiresome?
Did you ever play high fives?
Didn't see you at the party;
Don't you go out any more?
Well, good morning! Can you tell me
Who the family is next door?

—James W. Foley, Jr., in Bismarck Tribune.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liveryman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get about to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 4-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. Babcock, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by Smith's Pharmacy, kodak agents, next to postoffice.

BOILS AND CARBUNCLES

These unwelcome visitors usually appear in the spring or summer, when the blood is making an extra effort to free itself from the many impurities that have accumulated during the winter months.

Carbuncles, which are more painful and dangerous, come most frequently on the back of the neck, eating great holes in the flesh, exhaust the strength and often prove fatal. Boils are regarded by some people as blessings, and they patiently and uncomplainingly endure the pain and inconvenience under the mistaken idea that their health is being benefitted, that their blood is too thick anyway, and this is Nature's plan of thinning it. The blood is not too rich or too thick, but is diseased—is full of poison—and unless relieved the entire system will suffer. The boil or carbuncle gives warning of serious internal troubles, which are only waiting for a favorable opportunity to develop. Many an old sore, running ulcer, even cancer, is the result of a neglected boil.

Baneful Boils

Keep the blood pure, and it will keep the skin clear of all the irritating impurities that cause these painful, disfiguring diseases.

Dangerous Carbuncles

S. S. S. cures boils and carbuncles easily and permanently by reinforcing, purifying and building up the blood and ridding the system of all accumulated waste matter.

Mr. R. M. Pratt, Cave, S. C., writes: "For twenty years I was sorely afflicted with boils and carbuncles caused by impure blood. It is impossible to describe my suffering; part of the time being unable to work or sleep. Several doctors treated me, and I tried all the so-called blood remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good. During the summer of 1888 I was persuaded to try S. S. S., and after taking several bottles was entirely cured, and have had no return of these painful pests up to the present time."

S. S. S. is made of roots and herbs which act directly on the blood, and all poisons, no matter how deep-seated, are soon overcome and driven out by this powerful purely vegetable medicine.

S. S. S. is not a new, untried remedy, but for fifty years has been curing all kinds of blood and skin diseases. It has cured thousands, and will cure you. It is a pleasant tonic as well as blood purifier—improves the appetite and digestion, builds up your general health and keeps your blood in order.
